Heavy Death Toll Feared In Typhoon

AGANA, Guam (AP) — A heavy toll of life among 200 islanders and crewmen of seven missing Japanese fishing boats was feared after a typhoon furiously pounded Agrihan Island in the northern Marianas Friday with winds up to more than 200 miles an hour.

After Typhoon Carmen headed on out into open seas, the first aircraft over the area spotted only a few survivors lining the beach. All dwellings were wiped out.

SUBMERGED RANGE

Agrihan is one of the largest of the northern islands in a chain formed by a submerged mountain range which extends 1,565 miles from Guam almost to Japan. The northern islands are extremely rugged, some with volcanoes that erupt periodically.

Agrihan juts 3,000 feet above sea level.

One Japanese ship was grounded on Agrihan by the storm. Eleven ships of the Japanese Maritime Shipping Association began a search for the lost seven.

How many lives were lost on the island itself will not be determined until a paramedical team is dropped at Agrihan today.

Ahead of this, the 79th Air Rescue Squadron from Anderson Air Force Base on Guam sent planes to drop food and water.

Typhoon Carmen struck the island Friday morning with the full force of winds in excess of 150 miles an hour but there were gusts in excess of 200. The Typhoon Warning Center in Guam said the typhoon posed no danger to any other land areas.

Army Reports Soviets Block 4 Commanders

BERLIN (AP) — The U.S. Army confirmed Friday that armed Soviet soldiers blocked four U.S. train commanders Thursday as they tried to inspect their trains inside Communist East Germany.

Four U.S. trains, moving to and from West Berlin, and three American officers were involved, an Army spokesman said. In some cases the Soviet soldiers blocked the way with their weapons. In others they grabbed the commanders by the arms.

The United States has protested strongly to Soviet authorities, the spokesman added.

An Army statement was issued in response to queries concerning the incidents.

The Soviet action apparently was initiated to insure the display of East German and Communist emblems on the East German engines that pulled the U.S. Army trains through East Germany.

All four incidents occurred at the Soviet checkpoint at Marneburg, just inside the Soviet zone of Germany across from the West German border at Helmstedt.

Pact Awarded For Barge Lift

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A contract has been awarded for raising a barge containing 600 tons of liquid chlorine from the bottom of the Mississippi River, Rep. James H. Morrison, D-La., announced today.

He said the Army Corps of Engineers awarded the contract to J. Ray McDermott, Inc., Harvey, La.

Korea Joins Fight Against Guerillas

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI) — South Korea's second marine "Blue Dragon" brigade — the first major element of a 15,000-man Korean division en route here — arrived today to join the fight against the Communist Viet Cong.

Brig. Gen. Bong Chul Lee stepped smartly down the gangplank of the U.S. transport Eltinge, followed by 2,800 combat-ready Marines. He was greeted by Lt. Gen. L. Throckmorton, deputy to Gen. W. C. Westmoreland, head of U.S. forces in Viet Nam.

The Koreans arrived shortly after U.S. officials disclosed that an allied task force of U.S. and Australian troops was using tear gas to flush the elusive Viet Cong from their jungle hiding places in a sweep through the communist-dominated "Iron Triangle" about 20 miles northwest of Saigon.

NON LETHAL GASES

Earlier uses of non-lethal gases by the U.S. forces aroused protests in some world capitals.

The United States defended it, however as a more humane method than the use of grenades at a time when Communist guerrillas used women and children as shields. Use of the tear gas was restricted, although no formal ban ever was imposed.

Two raids by giant B52 bombers from Guam softened up the Communist bastion before the ground soldiers — backed by helicopter support troops, armed helicopters, and napalm, rocket and machinegun strikes by jet fighters — stormed into the "iron triangle."

A U.S. spokesman would say only that the American and Australian troops had met "significant contact," generally interpreted to mean that heavy fighting was underway.

There was no immediate report of casualties on either side.

The iron triangle is a Viet Cong stronghold with one tip of the three-sided area pointing directly toward Saigon. Government officials believed it was the headquarters of the high-ranking guerrilla leaders in the area.

While American and Australian forces pushed through the triangle, a multi-battalion operation by the 1st Infantry, Second Brigade, wrapped up a four-day search-and-kill search 30 miles east of Saigon and began moving back to base camp with a huge stockpile of captured Viet Cong supplies.

In the air war, U.S. planes bombed targets in North Viet Nam as close as 35 miles from the border of Communist China — the same area where Peking reported its planes shot down an American jet earlier this week.

U.S. and Vietnamese planes also pounded suspected Viet Cong positions in South Viet Nam.

Approval for the use of the tear gas by the troops from the 173rd Airborne Brigade was given by Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam.

Indonesians Set Fire To PKI House

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Young demonstrators burned the headquarters of the Indonesian Communist party — PKI — Friday and demanded dissolution of the party, which the army blames for a leftist uprising here last week.

"Long live America!" they cried in a motor parade past the U.S. Embassy, the scene in recent months of denunciation of things American by Red-led Indonesian mobs.

NO INTERFERENCE

Troops who crushed the coup cordoned off approach streets and made no effort to interfere as the youths set fire to the Communists' one-story building and reduced it to ashes.

The demonstrators shouted for the death of the Communist party's first secretary, D. N. Aidit, who has two key aides — Mohammed Lukman and a labor leader named Njoto — in Sukarno's inner Cabinet.

Aidit is reported to have fled to central Java after collapse of the coup, which was engineered by an officer of Sukarno's presidential guard, Lt. Col. Untung. "Kill Aidit!" the youths cried. "Dissolve the PKI."

Similar calls were reported by Radio Jakarta to have been voiced by some participants at a public rally "held in a very tense atmosphere" in a Jakarta stadium.

The radio station, run now by the army, said 500,000 persons representing 44 political and religious organizations demanded abolition of the Communist party and a cleanup of PKI in the government, military training centers and news media.

Soldiers inflamed by the torture killing of six generals were still hunting Communist rebels suspects in Jakarta and its suburbs. Unconfirmed reports said they have seized more than 300. The army newspaper Berita Yudha announced the arrest of three Communist youth front members and said they confessed taking part in the killing of the six generals, who were found buried in a common grave at an air base on Jakarta's outskirts.

India Charged With Violating Cease-Fire Line

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Pakistan charged Indian troops attacked across the cease-fire line in the southern Rajasthan-Sind Desert section Friday but were beaten back with heavy losses. India accused Pakistan of 11 ground and air violations along the cease-fire line.

The charges came as Indian Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri accused Britain of "demolishing" India's "goodwill and friendship." It was the strongest criticism yet by India against British "partisanship" for Pakistan in the Indo-Pakistan fighting.

Pakistan Radio said the Indian attack was launched against Pakistan's Sakari Tara outpost in the Ramgarh region of occupied Indian territory taken during fighting last month.

India charged additional Pakistani violations were made in various sectors during the past 24 hours but offered no details.

Federal Agents Conduct Raids In Area Towns

VIDALIA, La. (AP) — Federal Agents arrested one person and seized 16 gambling devices Friday in raids in Concordia Parish and at Alexandria.

Internal Revenue Service officials in New Orleans said four Concordia Parish establishments, including three in Vidalia, were raided.

The IRS identified the raided establishments in Concordia Parish as the Morville Bar in Morville and Blackie's Place, the Avalon and Jackie's, all in Vidalia.

Neil Dore, operator of the Du-luxe Barber Shop in Alexandria, was arraigned before U.S. Commissioner R. C. Baur at Alexandria on a charge of accepting wagers on football pool cards without having a federal gambling stamp. He was released under $1,000 bond.

The IRS raids in Louisiana were part of a series conducted in 42 towns and cities across the nation. The IRS said 113 persons were arrested nationally.

Peking Plays Guiding Role In Uprising

LONDON (UPI) — Communist China played an important, if not the key, role in last week's uprising which sought to oust President Sukarno from power in Indonesia, according to diplomatic reports reaching here Friday.

Behind Peking's strategy appeared to have been the major consideration that once the Indonesian Communist Party had seized power it would co-operate with Red China's leadership even more closely.

The Mao Tze-Tung regime was reported to have urged the Indonesian Communists to try to take control but Peking is now apparently anxious to cover up its activities. The Red Chinese continued close alignment with Indonesia with grave undertones of uncertainty and suspicion in both Jakarta and Peking.

The situation in Indonesia remained confused. Conflicting and incomplete reports failed to indicate whether the coup was entirely crushed and what government was likely to emerge.

Indonesia's Communist Party was the largest outside Russia and Red China. It was predominantly Peking-oriented, following strictly Red China's tough policy line and was understood to be largely under Peking's control and guidance.

The party exercised varying influence in Indonesia and has been a major factor in the country's political makeup. Sukarno carefully played off the party against the right-oriented army, the second largest important power group in the country.

Apparently Peking, out for a quick success, reached the conclusion recently that the time had come for the Indonesian party to go on the offensive and take over power.

Fair Weather Expected Today

Fair with no important temperature change is the forecast for the Twin Cities area today and Sunday.

Highs should be in the 80's, while tonight's low should fall to 54 to 62.

Weather Friday, in a word, was pleasant, as brisk winds developed in westerly directions about ten miles an hour.

High Friday was 88 in Monroe, the highest reading in the Midwest, shared with Texarkana, Ark. Low reading was an early morning 50 degrees.

Variable winds today should be five to 15 miles an hour.

Surgery Termed Complete Success

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson, bouncing back "with flying colors," got back on his feet Friday less than five hours after he underwent major surgery for removal of his gall bladder, a gallstone and a kidney stone.

The two-hour, 15-minute operation at Bethesda Naval Hospital during the morning showed no evidence of malignancy, infection or abnormalities in abdominal organs.

Johnson felt a bit uncomfortable at first from the effects of surgery and anesthetic, as expected, but his doctors were highly encouraged by his progress.

'SPEEDY RECOVERY'

Messages poured into the giant medical center in suburban Maryland from around the world. Among those sending their wishes for a speedy recovery were Pope Paul VI, French President Charles de Gaulle, and Secretary General Thant of the United Nations.

The President's older daughter, Lynda Bird, 21, arrived by air from the University of Texas in Austin, where she is a senior, to join the rest of the family for a weekend at the hospital with the President.

White House Press Secretary

Bill D. Moyers called the operation "a complete success." By late afternoon, he said there was no doubt Johnson was "able to deal with any question that might come to him."

"The President came through today with flying colors," he said.

"The doctors are enthusiastic about his performance, not only during surgery, but his progress through the afternoon as well," Moyers said.

At 2 p.m. EDT, Moyers reported, the President got out of bed and onto his feet with the help of a doctor and nurse and paced the floor briefly. The rest of the time he was resting well, Moyers added.

"The attending doctors agreed that the President will continue to improve," he said. "I expect it to be a quiet evening."

"Moyers said pathological examinations after the operation showed no signs of malignancy that might have made the operation more than the routine affair it normally is with thousands of persons every year.

Weird Forerunner Of Moon Craft Seen

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — A weird forerunner of craft that will land men on the moon made its first rocket-powered descent Friday under the practiced guiding hand of X15 pilot Joseph A. Walker.

The four-legged, 10-foot-high "bug," as Walker calls it, rose with a roar from a concrete apron outside the National Aeronautics and Space Administration flight research center here.

At 300 feet it balanced delicately on the downward thrust of its center-mounted jet engine, then circled slowly as Walker got set for the simulated lunar landing glide.

Cutting back the jet, used primarily to counteract five-sixths of the earth's gravity and thus duplicate gravity on the moon, Walker switched to his two descent-braking rockets and glided slowly back to the surface.

The 3,600-pound aluminum craft settled gently on its skeletal legs just as similar vehicles are expected to touch down on the moon by the end of this decade.

Braking rockets will be needed because parachutes would be useless on the airless moon.

Applause for the brief but difficult flight rose from several

Asia Facing Takeover If U.S. Leaves

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — Nationalist China, faced with a growing list of states calling for the admission of Communist China to the United Nations, Friday branded the Peking regime as "the greatest threat to world peace."

Chinese Nationalist Delegate Liu Chieh, stating Formosa's policy in the 117-member General Assembly, said if the United States withdrew from Asia the entire area would face the threat of a Communist Chinese takeover.

NUCLEAR UMBRELLA

Liu told the delegates the "effectiveness of the United States nuclear umbrella" would to a large extent determine "whether the Chinese Communist regime can succeed in its nuclear blackmail against the small and weak nations . . ."

He warned that the future security of the non-Communist countries of Asia "will test . . . the will and resolution of the United States as the leading nation of the free world to carry out its defense commitments."

Liu said the Communists were using South Viet Nam as "a proving ground for a host of subversive tactics which, if successful, will be used to pick off non-Communist governments one by one in the vulnerable areas of the world."

The 12 Communist delegations, including Cuba, walked out of the General Assembly hall when Liu spoke.

The Communist delegations for several years have refused to listen to Chinese Nationalist speeches in the Assembly.

Liu's speeches in the United Nations are usually in English but he customarily speaks in Chinese in the general debate.

Another Asian country, Thailand, also unleashed an attack on Communist China in the General Assembly Friday.

Foreign Minister Thanat Khoman claimed the Communist threat to Southeast Asia is part of an "imperialistic grand design" which also looks to Africa and Latin America.

"If any true liberating is to be done in Viet Nam, it is the people of North Viet Nam, living under an utterly oppressive regime, who ought to be liberated," Khoman told the Assembly.

Thant Reports Kashmir Strife Is Improving

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Secretary-General Thant reported an improvement Friday in observance of the cease-fire between India and Pakistan.

In one of his periodic reports to the Security Council on the Kashmir situation, Thant said U.N. observers since Wednesday "indicate in general an overall tendency toward improvement in the observance of the cease-fire."

He said numerous complaints of violations of the cease-fire continued to come from the U.N. observers and from the Indian and Pakistani U.N. delegations.

Thant said the U.N. observers were handicapped by a serious lack of transport and communications equipment but that urgent measures were being taken to remedy the situation.

News Leak, Fran

We expect it was all supposed to be a deep secret from colleagues on the Morning World, but Friday was the birthday of Monroe News-Star staff writer Frances Phillips.

The fact of Frances having completed another lap on the great race of life probably would never have come to light, except that the date leaked out last year.

Persons on her news "beat" made notes on their solar calendars, and another Phillips birthday will never again pass unnoticed. She takes great delight in noting their birthdays, so turn about's fair play?

'Possum Trot' Line Train Chugs Up To Monroe Depot

By CHARMINE RINI
World Staff Writer

The steam-powered Reader Railroad train from Southwest Arkansas stopped in Monroe Friday bringing an atmosphere of days-gone-by to the Missouri-Pacific depot.

It brought excitement to the youngsters who gathered to see "a real old time locomotive" and it brought nostalgia to the old timers who came to reminisce. One retired engineer, Gus Williams, of Monroe, who spent 32 years working for a railroad, hopped aboard and sat behind the throttle to pose for a picture. Williams, 82, was known as the champion whistle blower on the old Ouachita and Northwestern Railroad. Said one bystander, "We used to wait up at night for Gus to pass through blowing that whistle. That sure was a familiar sound."

The Reader Railroad, better known as the "Possum Trot Line," is the last remaining regularly scheduled train that carries both passengers and freight drawn exclusively by steam locomotives.

It is deviating from its usual 23-mile route from Reader to Waterloo, Ark., as one of its three locomotives has been leased to Paramount Pictures for a movie being filmed on location in Bay St. Louis, Miss. Entitled "This Property Is Condemned," it stars Natalie Wood and Robert Redford.

Locomotive No. 1720 will be "right at home" as the setting for the movie is a small Mississippi railroad town in the era of the depression-torn 1930's.

In the remote area of Caney Creek and Dewoddy Spur, the echoing sound of Reader's steam whistle is well known by young and old alike. It made its first trip through the hills in 1925 when it was built to haul virgin timber to a sawmill on the Missouri Pacific at Reader.

Since oil was discovered in the area and an asphalt refinery constructed at Waterloo, its principle freight has been petroleum products. Then, a passenger service was initiated whereby visitors can spend the day on the Possum Trot Line, riding in the "Rambler" lounge coach, recalling the era of the 20's.

On its trip to Bay St. Louis, the 1702 had to bring extra tank cars of water and fuel oil as facilities for servicing steam locomotives no longer exist on the Missouri Pacific, I. C. and L&N railroads. It also brought a boxcar loaded with spare parts in case the locomotive requires maintenance or repairs while the movie is being produced.

T. W. M. Long, president and general manager of Reader Railroad was aboard the train along with J. K. Byrne, chief mechanical officer, and Dale McBride, master mechanic. Byrne and McBride will remain with the locomotive to keep it in proper running order during the filming.

McKeithen Calls Western Trip Huge Success

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Gov. John McKeithen returned to Louisiana Friday night and termed his five-day pursuit of industry in California "very successful."

"It will more or less take time before the results will become evident," he said. "But anything we announce in the next several months or year or two may well be the result of this trip."

McKeithen headed a party of state officials and business leaders who visited industrialists in the San Francisco and Los Angeles areas.

The party toured the Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corp. center at Oakland and North American Aviation's space and information systems division near Los Angeles.

William T. Brown, Kaiser Aluminum's southern regional public affairs manager and a member of the State Board of Commerce and Industry, was one of those making the trip.

Unqualified Judges

In recent years there have been increasingly insistent demands that Supreme Court and other high court members be selected from among men with judicial experience and those having a high regard for justice, rather than politics. In some states, proposals have been made that nominations for judgeships be made by the bar associations. Under this proposal, nominations for district judgeships would be made by the district bar associations, while those for high offices would be made by the state bar associations. An effort which would improve the caliber of our judges is commendable.

Appointment of federal judges, all the way up from the district judges to the United States Supreme, is still a highly political matter and immediate chances for changing this situation do not seem good. Nevertheless, continued insistence, like the dripping water that finally wears away the hardest stone, may eventually bring a change — if the people do not weaken.

Some sign of weakening on the part of the Massachusetts Bar Association was seen when it reversed two of its previous actions regarding the proposed nomination of Francis X. Morrissey and voted to endorse President Johnson's nomination of Morrissey for a federal judgeship in Massachusetts. The association opposed such a nomination in 1961 and 1963 when there were rumors of an impending nomination by the then President John F. Kennedy.

Morrissey is a Boston municipal judge and a long-time friend of the Kennedy family. If approved, his federal judgeship also will be in Boston.

Some evidence of the weakening was found in the statement on the endorsement by Walter H. McLaughlin, President of the Massachusetts Bar Association. Evidently having felt in 1961 and 1963 that Morrissey was far from being the best man for the place and apparently not having changed its mind much on his qualifications, the bar might better have remained silent, since it was not required to take a position.

McLaughlin said the board of delegates did not consider whether Morrissey was the "best" possible appointee or "an outstanding" appointee but only whether he was "presently qualified, even though lacking in detailed experience."

Such a statement as that seems beneath the dignity of the Massachusetts Bar Association or any other bar association. The number of federal judgeships, as compared with many other offices, is extremely limited and it would seem that the least anyone could expect would be that an appointee to such a responsible office and position of justice should be "outstanding." In going so far as to say Morrissey was "presently . . . lacking in experience" and in intimating that he was not the "best" appointee or even "an outstanding" appointee, the board apparently indicated its approval of mediocrity. That sets up a deplorable situation and surely indicates weakness on the part of that bar in the matter of demanding high-quality judges.

What is said here in regard to Morrissey's ability is taken from the report on the Massachusetts Bar's action and is not our own assessment of Morrissey's qualifications.

The Massachusetts Bar's approval of Morrissey, after disapprovals in 1961 and 1963, is contrary to that of the American Bar Association, which has disapproved the Johnson nomination.

Albert E. Jenner, chairman of the American Bar Association's federal judiciary committee, had said in Chicago that, if appointed, Morrissey would go on the bench without any pertinent experience "and, as far as we can tell, with little aptitude."

On the basis of those statements and without any particular reference to Morrissey, it would seem that we are far from obtaining the highest-quality federal judges obtainable.

Bigotry In Reverse

Ardent devotees of racial sublimation have attempted to make certain words in the English language look worse than "The Ugly American." Among these words are "bigotry" and "discrimination." The result has been that in the minds of many the words have become more fascinating and, in some cases, the meanings have come more to be admired. Shortly we shall cite an instance of bigotry in reverse.

"Bigotry," in Webster's New International Dictionary, is defined to mean "obstinately and blindly attached to some creed, principal or practice." In recent years, the word "bigot" has been used principally to describe anyone opposed to forced integration of the races. In that sense, it is considered by the racist integrationists to be a stigma but when applied in that sense only, segregationists have come to regard it as something of a badge of honor closely allied to "discrimination."

Webster, in several definitions, defines "discrimination" as follows: "That which discriminates; a mark of distinction. The quality of being discriminating; faculty of nicely distinguishing; acute discernment." There is nothing wrong with that that we can see. In fact, we like to discriminate between a nice, juicy steak and a meal of roasted crow.

Every act of evolution and of improvement involves discrimination. In it, we choose the better or best of whatever factors and conditions are before us.

Without discrimination, we would have no fine - blooded cattle, no beautiful race-horses, no excellent foods, no splendid homes, no intelligence among our people, no white or black race. Nearly all birds and animals discriminate to the ultimate degree, refusing to associate with any other than their own kind.

But we are now, in some cases, encountering a new type of bigotry, one that is coming from people who formerly were called "underprivileged." Hospitals and places where food is served have been forced to accept and integrate those who formerly were kept separate. This has led to a reverse type of bigotry. We cite a specific instance.

Recently given permission to practice in a hospital in which, before, only white doctors had practiced, a Negro physician entered the hospital. In what appeared to some to be strange, he was greeted by an attractive white nurse in exactly the same manner she would have greeted a white doctor. She went into some detail in giving him messages which had been left for him regarding patients.

During the entire time, the Negro doctor's attitude was entirely different from that of what a white doctor would have been. His speech gave little indication of the education he must have had to obtain to become a doctor. In total darkness, there could have been no doubt of his race and upbringing.

Not once during the conversation did he use the word "yes" or show the nurse the respect she would have been accorded by a white doctor. His affirmative replies were "uh huh" and his negative answers were "huh uh." He never said thank you. His whole attitude was supercilious. He exemplified bigotry in reverse.

This tends to indicate that some Negroes are not satisfied with government - enforced "equality," which they do not naturally possess, but want to take advantage of this manufactured "equality" by becoming snobs and bigots. For many Negroes, this is not true.

If Negroes had attained equal opportunity and equal association through the natural qualities of being equal, there would have been none of this snobbery. Unless they learn to show the qualities of respect and courtesy which they demand, they will not receive it in return.

Pope Favors Viet Position Gives Private Blessing To U.S. Aid

POPE PAUL VI gave his private blessing to U.S. efforts to defend South Viet Nam from Communist aggression during his New York meeting with President Johnson.

He assured the President, "I am in sympathy with your efforts in Viet Nam."

That's the confidential report that President Johnson made to his congressional guests aboard the presidential plane during the return flight to Washington following his historic conference with the Roman Catholic pontiff.

He revealed that the Pope made the remarks during their country-by-country discussion of the world's major trouble areas before the Holy Father addressed the United Nations.

"Is he sharp?" exclaimed the President in giving details of their more than an hour meeting. "The Pope is as well informed on what is going on in the world, especially Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic, as I am. He told me that 'I am in sympathy with your efforts in Viet Nam.' He even knew all about the Great Society and what we are trying to accomplish."

PRESIDENT Johnson said he went to great lengths in explaining the position of the U.S. in Viet Nam, telling the Pope: "We are helping to defend South Viet Nam against Communist aggression because we gave that country our solemn commitment. If we fail to keep this pledge, the commitments we have with 50 other nations would be considered worthless."

During the President's private talks with the Pope in a thirty-fifth-floor suite at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel, two of the most prominent lay Catholics in Congress paced the floor in an adjoining room.

When the precedent - setting conference continued for 40 minutes with no sign of breaking up, Representative John J. Rooney, D - N.Y., turned to Speaker John McCormack, D-Mass., asking: "Who do you think is ahead?"

"I wouldn't know," replied the speaker with a big grin. "But I can tell you who isn't far behind — the President."

MANAGING THE NEWS — The Soviet Embassy is using an old device — the planted story — to try to improve Russia's image and spread Communist propaganda in the U.S.

Exclusive articles and stories are being distributed to weekly magazines and newspapers and passed to U.S. reporters on large daily papers by members of the Soviet Secret Police who double as diplomats and information specialists.

In most instances, the articles are carefully prepared by a team of writers in the Kremlin and sent to Washington by diplomatic pouch for distribution by a special branch of the KGB, the Soviet Secret Police.

In charge of this "news management" operation here is V. Bogachev, a member of the KGB's Department D—for "disinformation." His cover title is "officer" in the Soviet Embassy's press department.

He recently sent a glowing article on life expectancy in the Soviet Union to a West Coast magazine publisher with a covering letter, stating:

"The Novosti Press Agency (APN), Moscow, USSR asked us to offer the enclosed material for possible publication by you. We hope you will find it interesting."

"It may be published as a whole or may be used in part, as best fits your need. The article is exclusively for your publication. If you use the material, send up two copies of the issue in which it appears."

WORLD-WIDE OPERATION — The West Coast publisher, in turning the letter and article over to U.S. authorities, reported that this was the second "exclusive" that Soviet authorities have tried to plant with his magazine within the past three months.

A correspondent, who covers the State Department for one of Washington's largest daily newspapers, is known by U.S. security authorities to receive regular stories on U.S.-Soviet foreign policy moves from a Soviet Embassy official. This Russian diplomat also is constantly trying to plant stories with TV and radio correspondents in the capital.

According to U.S. Intelligence authorities, one of the current operations of the KGB's "Department D" is the circulation of the autobiography by the Russian Agent Gordon Lonsdale.

Lonsdale, alias Konon Trofimovich Molody, was sentenced to 25 years in prison in 1961 for running a spy ring in Britain. He was later exchanged for Greville Wynne, a British businessman who the Russians arrested on trumped up spy charges.

Although Lonsdale is living behind the Iron Curtain, he has arranged to have his memoirs published in Britain and other European countries. The Lonsdale spy book is described as a "deadly piece of psychological warfare" by U.S. intelligence experts.

It is the first book by a Soviet spy ever to be covertly pushed by the KGB outside of Russia. It portrays most American security officers as fools or drunks.

H. B. DEAN

"I can do all things through Christ which strengthen me." Philippians 4:13

The Lord is looking for people through whom He can do the unusual and even the unexplainable. The man who has Christ in Him and appropriates the power that goes with it can live the most exciting life ever. "With God, nothing shall be impossible."

There is a vast difference between areas of "rights," which are for all without qualification, and "opportunities," which are for those with the ability to meet them, for those who can meet certain standards.

One of the arguments against lumping the new voting rights law into this category is that, with so much television and radio available, a person really doesn't have to know how to read and write to be able responsibly to cast a ballot.

Nixon Considered Best Party Hope

UNLESS THE disintegration of the Great Society continues at its present rate, the 1968 election will be an exercise in futility for the Republican Party. Beset by the ravenous Democrats and by Republicans who would rather be Left than President, the GOP seems to have little future. And of that future, much is in former Vice President Richard Nixon's hands.

Mr. Nixon represents one of the tragedies of our political history. Though he was the best prepared for the nation's highest office, he was eulogized out of the Presidency by a stolen election and by General Dwight D. Eisenhower's inability to understand that politics is a serious business which goes far beyond the feeding of his own ego.

At this stage in Republican problems, Mr. Nixon is one of the few who can do something to bring back the two-party system in this country by giving the GOP the hope to move ahead. If he seizes the opportunity, there will be a new spirit in the Republican Party. He will also have one of the rare opportunities in our times to make a comeback.

MR. NIXON, however, still bears the scars of past battles. Once upon a time, the slings and arrows of the Liberal Establishment only drove him to greater efforts and a burning need to prove that he was right. The ceaseless and pitiless campaign mounted by his liberal enemies in the press and the professions weakened his resolve and seduced him into going after the love and respect of those who will never do more than cut his throat.

Conservatives and moderates in the Republican Party have long since agreed that Mr. Nixon is the man to lead the GOP back to its place on the stage of history. But there is a real danger that the Republican Left, made up of people like Governor Nelson Rockefeller of New York and Senate Minority Whip Thomas Kuchel of California, the architects of GOP defeat in 1964, will impress its views on the former Vice President.

Mr. Nixon is disenchanted with Mr. Rockefeller and has been since the 1964 Republican convention. But he is still trying to make some kind of accommodation with Senator Kuchel. In the past, Dick Nixon has tried so hard to win over the Republican Left that he has antagonized the rest of the party. This was particularly true in 1960 when he made his famous Midnight Ride from Washington to New York in order to come to terms with Nelson Rockefeller.

Governor Rockefeller did nothing for Mr. Nixon in 1960, but those who had labored for his nomination felt, with some justification, that they had been left behind.

TO LISTEN TO the Republican Left today, Mr. Nixon is the only man on the scene capable of carrying the party standard in 1968. This may well be. There are few enough around who understand the present political situation. The party's rank and file, certainly, have indicated that they would be ready to do battle for Mr. Nixon. They have not forgotten how earnestly he gave of his time and effort to garner votes for Senator Barry Goldwater, once the 1964 convention had made its choice.

There is more than a little reason to suspect the motives of the Republican Left as it sings the praises of Mr. Nixon. In years past, it was precisely this group which, in alliance with the Democrats, gave aid and comfort to those who would besmirch the reputation of Richard Nixon. Look at the record and you will see them working in tandem for the opposition in 1950, 1952, 1956, and 1960 — all critical years in the Nixon career.

THE STRATEGY of this group is simple. If Mr. Nixon can be built up early enough, it will discourage other Republican conservatives. The important years of building up support among those who control the party machinery — and of becoming known to the American people — will then be lost. At this point, the Republican Left will suddenly switch its allegiance to someone in the party whose thinking and predilections more clearly suit the Leftist ideologists.

The Rockefeller, the Kuchels, and the other overt and secret leaders of the Republican Left have never forgiven Mr. Nixon for his role in exposing the Alger Hiss or for defeating Mrs. Helen Gahagan Douglas in the 1950 California senatorial contest. They will try to use him, as they did in the past — but that's all.

Meanwhile, the real Republicans are ready to see in Mr. Nixon the man to take their party's tiller. They want some reassurances, however — the kind which mean more than a superficial laying on of hands. That reassurance can come only from those who have not played fast and loose with Republican hopes and beliefs. By making clear and definitive his place in the loyalties of the tried-and-true Republicans, Mr. Nixon can demonstrate his good will today. If he does not, the Republican Left will lead him to convention and electoral slaughter in 1968.

Congress' Record Just About Made

ALTHOUGH ITS quitting date is still a mystery to Congress its record has just about been made. Big question remaining is what, if anything, it is going to do about the Administration proposal that it repeal Section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act which gives States authority to pass "right - to - work" laws prohibiting compulsory union membership.

There is also the highway beautification proposal which seems certain to get through in one form or another, and a few other odds and ends which are in the last legislative stages. But the parts of its big legislative output for which this Congress will be remembered are now law.

Some members are asking themselves, and one another, whether they stayed too long and did too much. Congress now is snappish and rebellious to a degree as all long sessions are in their closing days. Representative William H. Harsha, Republican, Ohio, told his colleagues: "This House has been in session so long that many of us are becoming stir crazy." Harsha is one of the Republican minority which has established something of a record for futility, which is the inevitable lot of so tiny a minority.

HOW DID the big Democratic majority function? In weight of numbers only three of this century have compared with it. They were the ones that came in with Wilson in 1912, with Harding in 1920, and with Roosevelt in 1932, which even increased two years later.

The Wilson majority, proceeding with caution, produced a tremendous body of progressive legislation. The Harding Congress devoted itself to getting back to what Harding called "normalcy." The first two Roosevelt Congresses, proceeding at break-neck speed, put a great amount of legislation on the statute books, some of which had Supreme Court trouble but met its objectives in revised laws which passed the Court test.

There were certainly fewer clunks and odd balls riding in on the Johnson wave than was the case with Wilson, Harding or Roosevelt. The Democratic majority certainly has not been hostile to any of the Johnson recommendations, but the new members resent charges that they have been docile or that they rubberstamped everything that came down from the west end of Pennsylvania Avenue.

CONGRESS WENT further than the President requested on some measures. Medicare costs were raised $2,000,000,000 over what the White House requested. College aid was more than double the amount asked. Military pay was raised $600,000,000 above the request. The anti-poverty program got all requested and more, and so did area redevelopment under a new name. The farm program will be costlier than the President wanted.

Some Johnson measures have not had easy going. Repeal of Section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act as well as the rent subsidy provision of the Housing Act got through the House only with Republican assistance. And 14(b) is meeting strong Senate resistance. Congress voted repeal of the national origin system as the President requested, but itself otherwise rewrote the immigration legislation to change the system of quota preferences from non - Western Hemisphere countries and placed a limitation on Western Hemisphere immigration, where there had been none.

Which state in the United States has the lowest average elevation?

Delaware has the lowest mean altitude — averaging 60 feet for the entire state. It might be of interest to know that Louisiana shares second place with Florida at 100 feet.

I would like to know why there is a big crack in the outside brick of the Clara Hall Elementary School. It is on both the front and back of the building. How long has it been there? I've noticed it in the last year. Is it dangerous as to bricks falling out?

Supt. Van D Odom said the crack is caused by temperatures and is being watched by competent authorities. There is no danger in any way, school officials have been told.

Should authorities feel it will be any more than just an unsightly crack in the building, appropriate action will be taken. This is especially true regarding the safety of the children and school personnel.

Why doesn't William Lanier Hunt, the author of the Southern Gardener column, answer his mail?

Perhaps you are addressing your letters to Mr. Hunt incorrectly. We suggest you write to him at Box 637, Chapel Hill, N. C.

Has the parish school system been able to catch up yet with the cost of living raise given teachers in the City of Monroe system? I was given to understand that they had, and that starting this year, their administrators would be paid more than those in the city. Was there that large a surplus in their budget last year?

Officials at the school board office call every point raised in the question "misinformation," adding that the points are "not true on any count." They say that administrators' pay in the parish system is "slightly below" that in the city.

Does it cost anything and how much to have a street or road restricted? How do you go about doing it? Do you have to hire an attorney to handle the job?

Officials said that the term "restricted" is too vague to attempt an answer on face value. They suggest that the questioner contact the police juror who represents his or her ward, and arrange an on-site inspection of the situation which led to the question.

In the Ouachita Parish highway department employees recent pay raise, why weren't all employees raised, instead of a select few? Why do some employees of the highway department make more an hour than others who are doing the same job?

Parish Engineer Herbert I. Collier reports that there have been no general raises in the past year, and that pay scales are established on merit. He suggested that persons concerned with particular cases should contact him personally. The engineer noted that attempts are made to promote within the department and, for this reason, men are trained sometimes on pieces of equipment not directly related to their regular jobs. This makes them better qualified and worth more money, he said, in that they can handle jobs other than their regular ones, when needed. In this case, the pay of two men classified in the same job might be different, but detailed information should be obtained from Collier.

Will the ice show be presented at the State Fair again this year?

Yes, the Ice Capades will be presented at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Thursday and Friday (Oct. 27, 28 and 29) and at 1 p.m., 5 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 30. There will be a matinee Sunday at 2:30 p.m. (Oct. 31).

Is the widow of the late Sheriff Milton Coverdale still serving as secretary for the Louisiana Association of Sheriffs? What is the present salary for this position?

Mrs. Coverdale, is serving as assistant secretary for the association. Ouachita Parish Sheriff Bailey Grant is association secretary.

Due to the large amount of business that must be transacted by the association, such as the pension fund, etc., the group several years ago authorized an assistant secretary.

The late sheriff was secretary for a number of years, and his wife helped him with the bookkeeping. At the death of Sheriff Coverdale, the association named his widow until the position could be filled by an election, when Grant was chosen.

Because of the duties required of Sheriff Grant by the sheriff department in Ouachita Parish, full time could not be devoted to the association requirements.

Mrs. Coverdale is reported to receive $300 per month as assistant secretary.

How much money are you allowed to inherit before having to pay state inheritance and federal inheritance tax?

Both state and federal inheritance laws allow a $5,000 exemption. If the inheritance is more than $5,000, state tax starts at two per cent, and federal tax starts at three per cent. The taxes are on a graduated scale, however, so that the more a person inherits, the more tax he pays.

When a Social Security claim is filed, how long is it before the applicant is notified by mail of the decision on the claim?

The length of time taken by the local Social Security office to develop an application varies for each individual case. Once the development is completed, however, the individual should be notified within four to six weeks after the application is sent on the payment center.

In the case of a claim filed before the client actually reaches retirement age, the payment center waits until the month that the individual reaches retirement age before notifying him.

How does one get a birth certificate without any records? I was born in a rural home in 1912 and as far as I can find, there is no birth certificate for me.

Write the Louisiana State Board of Health, P. O. Box 60630, New Orleans. If you were born in Louisiana. Otherwise, write to the state board of health in the state in which you were born for a birth certificate.

In a recent edition of your paper, a list of petit jurors for Fourth District court was given. Why were there more from Ward 10 than from Ward 3?

The number of jurors from any ward is purely a matter of chance. All prospective jurors' names are put in a box and then names are drawn until the desired number has been reached. There is no way to balance the number from each ward.

What is the Address of the American Civil Liberty Union?

Write ACLU at 156 Fifth Ave., New York, N. Y. The telephone number there is OR-55990.

When does the interest start on U. S. Series E Savings Bonds, and when can they be cashed?

No interest is payable on these bonds for the first six months, and they have to be held for at least 60 days before they can be cashed.

What information does the Credit Bureau of Monroe-West Monroe give out concerning an individual who is trying to obtain credit?

The credit bureau supplies inquiring firms with a record of how the individual has handled previous credit accounts. The bureau keeps a file on persons in the Monroe — West Monroe area which includes charge accounts and the manner in which they have been paid. When a person applies for a new charge account, the firm will contact the credit bureau to inquire about previous accounts before opening a new one.

The local bureau does not rate persons — it merely passes on the ratings issued by each company on that person's account.

Theatre Opener Double Pleasure

By ROBERT SIMONTON
World Staff Writer

Onstage it was "The Pleasure of His Company" and offstage it was "The Pleasure of Her Company."

The combination resulted in a pleasant evening for first nighters attending the Little Theatre's Patron Preview last night at Strauss Playhouse.

Across the boards the rueful comedy by Samuel Taylor, with Cornelius Otis Skinner, unfolded to the pleasure of the audience.

It was a double pleasure, because just prior to production, the patrons had been treated to the charm and grace of Mrs. Blanche Oliver, a person who has become synonymous with cultural enlightenment in this area.

Mrs. Oliver was the center of before-curtain activities at the preview, given in honor of her 75th birthday and as a tribute to her endeavors in the community. She was presented to the audience in the theatre before the play began and was accorded a standing ovation.

The motor in this old chassis is still going on all four cylinders," she commented, and assured all the "dear hearts and gentle people" that "I love you all."

Then from the glitter of the reception, the audience was quickly transported to a grand house on a hill in San Francisco, setting for the opening play of the season.

The standout performance was given by Jennie Clare Carroll as Jessica Poole, the daughter. She assumed her character completely and was suited to the role, and both of these assets contributed to a naturalness in action and speech. Miss Carroll is a speech major at Northeast State College here and plans to go into radio and television after graduation. The latter would be an ideal medium to showcase her talent and good looks. She gave Jessica the right proportions of brightness and gaiety and uncertainty.

June Swayze, as the self-possessed, direct and possessive Katherine Daugherty, was consistent in her characterization. She was particularly good in her battle of the words scenes with Biddeford (Pogo) Poole, her ex-husband, played by G. Willoughby Thomas. Poole is a character who is conscious of his charm and uses it flagrantly, pulling this off. But perhaps, at times, his interpretation was a little more than was intended because the charm became somewhat saccharine.

Handsome, calm, soft-spoken and slow were properly handled by Stanley Willson as Roger Henderson. Toy was played by Ted Boyd with oriental gusto; Marc Swayze as Jim Dougherty was the adequate "yes" man for Katherine, his wife on and off stage; gentle-acid MacKenzie Savage, the father, was done by Don Lomax.

The timing, so important to sophisticated comedy, was in so mepalces a little less than fluid. But, the entire show seemed to gain momentum as it went along and the audience broke into scattered applause at the end of some of the particularly good punch lines.

"The Pleasure of His Company" was directed and designed by George W. Black, with Mona Brooks serving as assistant director. Walter Klotz was stage manager. Back stage crews handled their respective jobs well and this always tends to assist in the smoothness of any production. Although there was but one set, the living room in the Dougherty house, it was tasteful and effective.

While the play was for the most part light and humorous, as intended, there was a message and it was summed up in Jessica's words during the denouement, "All my life I've done the expected. I want to wake up in the morning and wonder what's going to happen to me today!"

The production will be presented again tonight and Sunday and Oct. 14-17.

MARKET COMMENTARY

The market opened with a slight rise in response to a report from London that the British government had decided to raise interest rates. However, the market soon turned volatile due to rumors of a potential merger between two major steel companies. By noon, the Dow Jones Industrial Average had risen over 2 points, while the S&P 500 index showed a similar gain. Trading volumes were notably heavier than usual for this time of the morning. In the afternoon, the market experienced another surge as several key sectors reported positive earnings. The final closing saw the Dow reaching nearly 500 points, marking a significant milestone for the year's performance so far.

Revamped Tribe, Wildcats At War

By STUART HILL
 World Sports Writer

Northeast pits what it hopes is a new - found offensive punch against a band of win-hungry Wildcats in Pineville tonight in hopes of notching its second win of the season.

The game, the first between Louisiana College and Northeast since 1958, is not without some pitfalls for the Indians.

La. College, coached by Gene Southern, has not managed a touchdown in three games and the Wildcats have the added incentive this week of homecoming. As the Indian defense accounted for a 5 - 0 opening season victory over Southeast Missouri, the Wildcat defense gave La. College its only score of the season — a safety.

Both teams are young. Freshmen quarterbacks have drawn starting roles for both squads, Allen Bozeman of Newellton for Northeast and Johnny Fudickar for La. College. Both were moved into starting positions on the basis of losing performances last week.

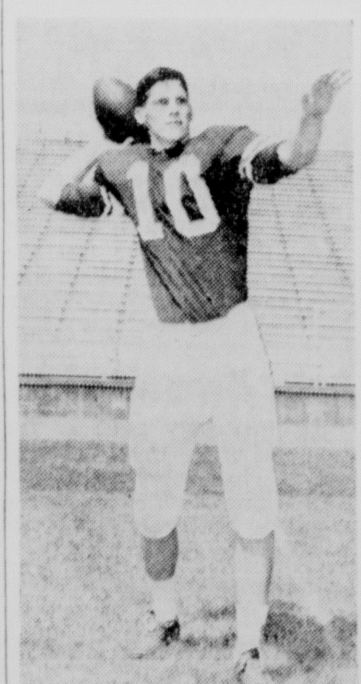

In spite of Wildcat offensive impotency, they will dress out an offensive line with a 219 pound average. Northeast will field a defensive line averaging 202 pounds per man.

Northeast's Dixie White as well as Southern, has done some offensive revamping for the contest.

western. Four other players have been moved into the Northeast offensive lineup including freshman tackle John Bazzo, 220 pounds, guard Gred Jubert, a 190 pound frosh, center Wayne Armbruster, a 186 pound letterman, and junior halfback David Elkin.

Indian fullback Bobby Scafidel is also likely to see more offensive duty this week. He was a standout in the Indian defensive secondary in the first two Tribe contests, but became the top ground gainer against Northwestern with 78 yards rushing.

In addition to moving Fudickar to the starting quarterback slot, Southern is moving R. J. Ferrita of Leesville to offensive guard and former 230 pound defensive tackle Clay Tillman, to offense.

Joining the Wildcat backfield will be three juniors, fullback Tommy Cannon, 210, and halfbacks Robert Payne, 180 and Dickie Dunn, 205.

Halfback Lynn Mitchell joins Scafidel, Elkin and Bozeman in the Indian backfield.

Mistakes have been costly to both squads in their first three games. Reports from both camps indicate that each respective team is showing improvement from week-to-week. Northeast had a late game-winning rally cut short last week against the Demons and Howard broke the Wildcats' backs with a fumble recovery and a pass interception.

If mistakes have to be made, Northeast hopes it has a trio that is quite capable of making the opposition do the making. They are linebackers Mike Shepherd and Wayne Cunningham, and tackle Preston Hollier, an all - conference tackle. All three have received repeated praise from the Tribe coaching staff for defensive performances.

Bastrop Beaten 27-0 In Homecoming Tilt

By KEITH PRINCE
 World Sports Editor

The Lions are for real. If any doubt remained after two victories in a row, it was all wiped out for good here Friday night when Coach Mark Boatright's Ouachita Lions completely battered Bastrop into submission, 27-0, before a thrilled Homecoming crowd of more than 5,000.

Playing under the name of "Head Hunters" — which they resembled greatly — Ouachita's defense was magnificent. The Hunters stopped Bastrop without a single first down, and only 17 yards rushing, the entire first half while the equally impressive offensive unit was romping to a 20 - 0 lead.

And the final statistics found Bastrop with less than 100 yards total offense. The Rams had 75 rushing and 23 passing while Ouachita piled up 238 on the ground and 103 passing for a total offense of 341 yards.

The victory, which gives Ouachita a 2 - 0 record in district 1-AAA play and a 3 - 2 season record, was never in doubt. Behind the bruising running of tailback Johnny Knighten and fullback Don Bendily plus the passing, playing calling and running of quarterback Ronnie McCain Ouachita ripped for good gains consistently.

Knighten and McCain shared scoring honors. The 170 - pound Knighten rammed 29 yards for the first touchdown late in the first quarter then scored again late in the second period on a 45 yard screen pass from McCain.

Meanwhile, McCain put the Lions in front 14 - 0 with his eight yard TD scamper just minutes before the end of the third period and also passed to Charles Carlisle for 14 yards and the last TD of the night.

Trying to pick out individual stars in Ouachita's interior defensive wall would be harder than the needle and haystack bit.

Starting, and playing most of the game defensively, from tackle to tackle on Ouachita's defensive unit were Bobby Van, Ronnie Windham and Larry Vanderburg. The ends were Orville Taylor and Warren Luck.

The linebackers were Ronnie Walton and Freddy Phillips, both superb, and the monster man was big Wayne Jensen. Walton and Jensen both intercepted passes and were in on many tackles. Dickie McNair, who gained 28 yards on six trips, played nearly all the way at left half on defense and came up with several bone cracking individual tackles. He was also outstanding on pass defense.

Knighten and James Hale, who kicked three of four extra point attempts, were the other defensive secondary men and they also got their share of tackles.

While the defensive team had their fun the offensive unit must have been plotting ways to outdo them. And they came awfully close.

The opening tally came on a 43 yard drive that took only five plays and clicked with precision. Knighten was the workhorse, carrying four of the five times and gaining all but one yard on the march.

His 29 yard scoring scamper was beautiful. Taking the hand-off from McCain, he hit left guard on a trap play, cleared the line of scrimmage after brushing off two Rams and cut back right before bursting into the clear.

Almost before the crowd settled down following Knighten's run, the Lions were back in business thanks to Walton's interception on the last play of the first quarter.

Throwing from his own 28, Jimmy Gilbert's pass was tipped then caught by Walton at the 35 and returned to the nine. Three plays later Ouachita was on the board again.

McNair lost one and Knighten gained two, leaving it third and goal from the eight. McCain, only a junior, then faked to Bendily but kept on a quarterback trap over left guard and barreled into the end zone with 10:40 left before intermission.

After an exchange of punts, Ouachita took over on its 26. Bendily and Knighten made several determined runs to help the Lions reach Bastrop's 30. But a penalty moved the ball back to the Bastrop 45.

The delay was only temporary. McCain came up with a solution quickly. On first down from the 45 he hit Knighten with a screen pass near the left sideline and it was tally - time.

Knighten stayed near the out-of-bounds line until he neared the 25, then cut back across field and sped home free.

Ouachita's last scoring drive of the night was a 70-yard march that required 10 plays and was kept alive by a delay of the game penalty against Bastrop on a fourth down play.

After moving to Bastrop's 45 Ouachita had to punt on a fourth and four situation. However, the Rams were penalized five yards, apparently for having too many men on the field, and it gave Ouachita a first at the 40.

Knighten scampered for 19 yards, to the 21, on first down and picked up five more the next play. Here McCain floated a soft pass into the waiting arms of Carlisle near the four and he trotted over for the score.

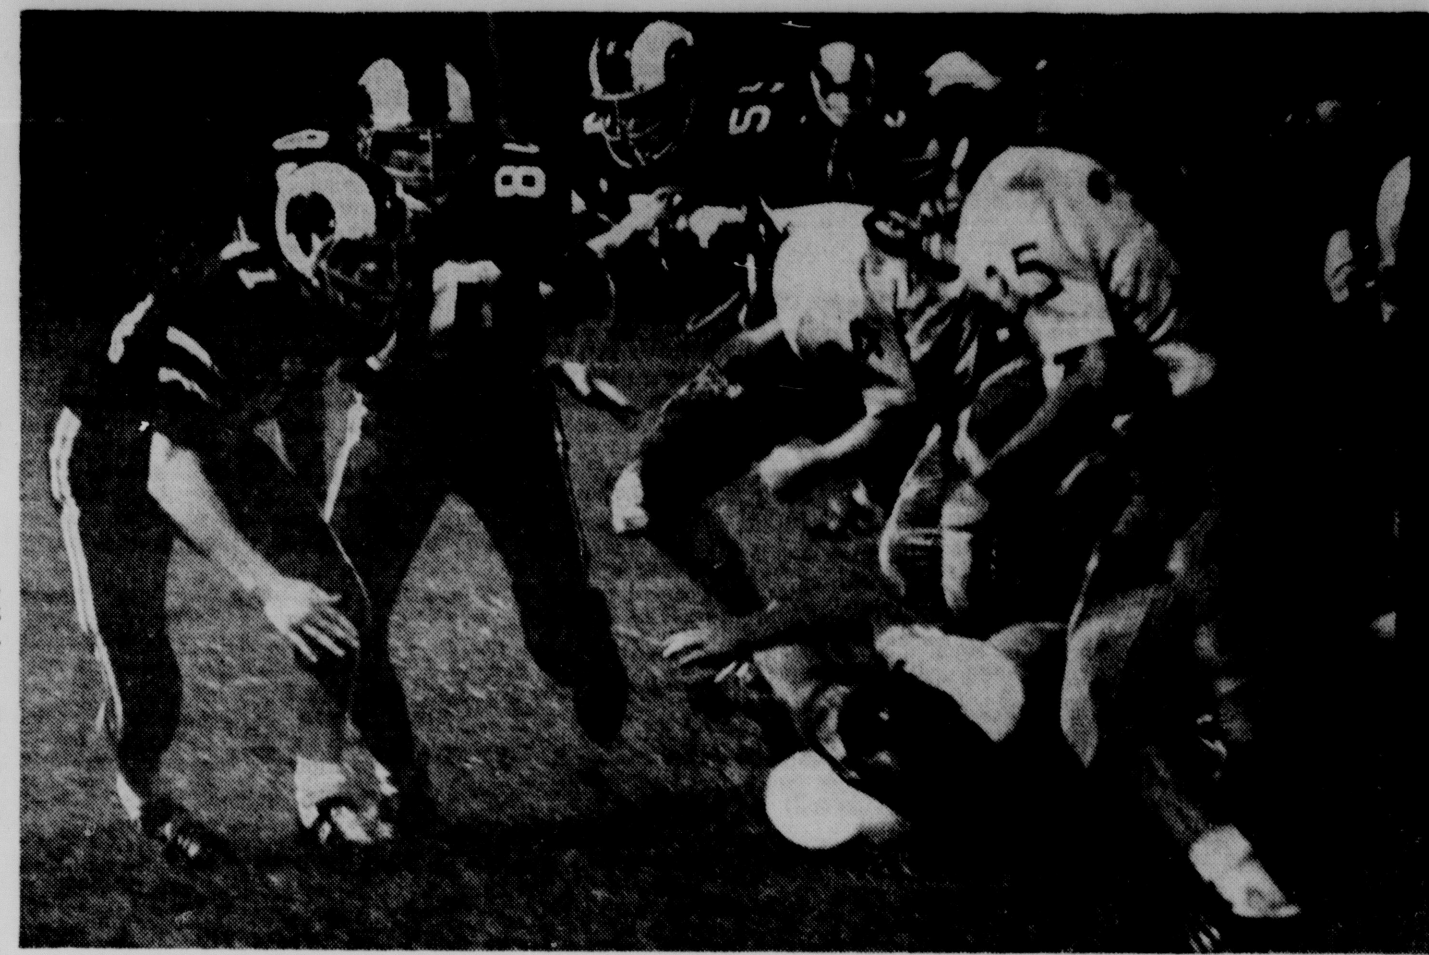

Knighten finished with 118 yards rushing on 15 carries while Bendily had 58 on 12 trips. Several of Bendily's carries came on crucial yardage situations and the fair - haired strong man brought through repeatedly.

Brightest spot in a dismal night for Bastrop was the running and punting of Gilbert. He had one 25 yard run and scrambled well enough for a total of 38 yards. His punting was nothing short of sensational. Kicking six times he averaged 44 yards and once drilled a 59 yarder out of bounds on the Ouachita one yard line.

After the game a jubilant Ouachita dressing room found Coach Boatright busy accepting congratulations from happy alumni.

"Needless to say, I was extremely pleased with all the boys. It's hard to single out anybody. I do know McNair and Jensen were outstanding on pass defense. Our offensive line blocked well and McCain mixed his plays well. It was just a great effort and I believe the kids are ready to start thinking about Bossier now."

Alabama has lost one conference game, and narrowly escaped Mississippi last week. The Tide can't afford to stumble against Vanderbilt, a team Bryant says is better than his winless record indicates.

Jennings Backs Overpower Visiting West Monroe 26-0

By BUTCH MUIR
 World Sports Writer

JENNINGS — Dewayne Istre and Ken Goodreau tore apart the West Monroe defense as the two senior backs ripped for 259 yards between them and the Jennings Bulldogs won their 4th straight game of the year, defeating the Rebels 26-0 here Friday night.

A capacity crowd of 5,000 partial fans saw Istre, the senior tailback, retire from a two-week absence to score all four Bul-

Rebels Face SEC Q-Back Third Time

Slumping Mississippi, riddled by quarterbacks the past two weeks, faces another Southeastern Conference sharpshooter today when Florida sends Steve Spurrier against the Rebels.

Spurrier led the hot-and-cold Gators to an upset of Louisiana State a week ago to keep Florida in the race for the football title. The Gators need a victory over Mississippi to stay in contention, because they lost their conference opener to Mississippi State.

Ole Miss virtually has been eliminated by Kentucky quarterback Rick Norton and Alabama quarterback Steve Sloan. The Rebels, however, will be playing before the old grads, and they haven't lost a homecoming battle for 15 years.

The game—rated about a toss-up—is the feature of this week-end's action in which two Atlantic Coast Conference teams join the league for a day.

Clemson's battle at unbeaten Georgia and South Carolina's trip to Tennessee have been ruled conference scraps to enable the two Southeastern teams to meet a requirement that they play six league games.

The only other game that affects the race is Alabama's test tonight at Vanderbilt, where attention will be centered two-way football players.

In other games, Mississippi State entertains Southern Mississippi, Georgia Tech plays at Tulane in a battle of left-handed quarterbacks, and little Chattanooga challenges Auburn this afternoon. Kentucky is host to Florida State and Louisiana State travels to Miami tonight.

Georgia risks its conference lead and a fourth-place spot in the national rankings against Clemson, which will be trying to erase memories of last week's 38-6 mauling by Georgia Tech. The Bulldogs will be trying for their fourth straight victory, which would be their fastest start since 1946.

Tennessee still is a question mark, after beating Army and tying Auburn. The Volunteers, idle last week, could bounce into the thick of the conference race with a victory.

Vanderbilt will be trying for its first victory when its plays Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant's shuffled Crimson Tide. Bryant has formed a "Big Red" unit of players that will go both ways against Vanderbilt's offensive and defensive units.

dog touchdowns as Jennings, fifth - ranked in the Associated Press" double - A top 10 grid poll kept their unbeaten record intact.

The non - conference loss was the fourth of the year with one win for the Johnny Rebs of Walter Brister.

West Monroe upset Byrd last week 13-0.

The Bulldogs, running from a single wing after shifting from the "T" drove 90 yards for the first score of the night with 11:23 to go in the second period.

West Monroe, after taking over on its own 35, marched to Jennings' 10-yard line before losing over on downs the first time it had the ball.

From here, the hosts took only five plays, with a 65-yard run by Goodreau highlighting the drive for the first score.

Only one man, Rebel safety Karl Pearson, stood between Goodreau and the goal line at the 19.

Istre then slipped his way through West Monroe defenders for six yards to the 13 and on the next play galloped in for the score. He then tackled on the extra point to make the score read 7-0.

Only four minutes and 15 seconds later, the Bulldogs had taken a 13-0 lead. After forcing the Rebs to punt, Jennings took over on its own 48. Only six plays later, Istre score his second TD of the night.

It was also Istre who set up the score on a 36-yard scamper over the middle to the Rebs' 11. Again it was Pearson that was standing between him and the goal line.

Shortly before the half, the Rebs had driven to the hosts' 14. Working the draw play to perfection, fullback Richard Ware raced from his own 46 to the "Dogs' 34 for a gain of 20 yards. But the drive stalled after a pass fell incomplete at the 14.

After intermission, the Rebs were forced to punt after receiving the second half kickoff. Floyd Reeves, who ended the night with a 36.8 yard average, got off a 40-yard boot only to see Istre return it 36 to the Rebs' 34.

With third down and nine at the 33, it seemed as though the Rebs would hold this time. But Istre hit Johnny Adams, a 200-pound left end, for a 30-yard pass gain to the three yard line. The pass was the eighth of the year for the Bulldogs, who later threw one more, completing it also.

Istre hit the line for two yards and followed up with a one-yard plunge for the touchdown, running the score to 19-0 with 8:13 to go in the third stanza. West Monroe took the ensuing kickoff, and followed the running of Ware and a 10-yard pass from quarterback Ronnie Wiggins to Reeves to take the ball to the Bulldogs' 30. But two aerials fell incomplete and the drive ended.

After a 15-yard penalty, one of six for the host squad, set the Bulldogs back to the five, Jennings was off to the races again. In 10 plays, the District 4-AA favorites had reached the Rebs' three - yard line, but on a third down and goal play, Goodreau fumbled with tackle Edward Koserog falling on the loose ball at the seven.

But it was just shortly after that the Cannines had started fourth score of the night. Start-

Series Play Resumes Today

Keith Prince

Good Advice: Don't Advise

Remember how all through your first years of following sports the old pros, usually your father, granddad or an uncle, used to tell you that to win a team had to have a sound defense above all else.

And, remember how you thought, gee, he must be the smartest guy in the world.

Now, we don't mean to be knocking dads, or even uncles because we all admit they are wonderful — especially around Christmas time. But the point is our poor pops, or anyone else

A Game For Hitters

Looking at the Series first, we can make this simple observation:

Pitching and defense are supposed to be at least 90 percent of the game. Hitting makes up the other 25 percent. This is a theory long accepted by "anybody who knows anything" about the game.

So what happens in Minnesota. Nothing except the Twins are making a complete clown out of "anybody who knows anything" about the game. To the Twins, who seem to be the only real authorities on the subject, hitting appears to be the major point needed to win. And, it really is quite interesting. To predict Don Drysdale and Sandy Koufax would have been beaten in straight sets would have been like saying Liz Taylor needs a face job. But it happened and now the Twins take a 2-0 lead to Los Angeles.

Admittedly, the Dodgers were strong favorites mostly because they had convinced everybody two years ago (4 straight over New York) that pitching will overcome all other handicaps in a short (best of seven) series. And, who could argue with success?

But against the Yankees, Los Angeles was matching superb pitching and poor hitting against the Yanks' fair hitting and so-so pitching.

Now they still have the pitching edge but are facing better pitching opposition and much better hitting. So that leaves us with good pitching (LA) versus powerful hitting (M), and adequate pitching (M) against anemic hitting (LA).

Therefore, making Minnesota a much better bet than most folks had suspected.

The biggest surprise, although averages had already told us so, is that the Dodgers' hitting

A Young Man's World

We used to have this foolish idea that Saturday was the best, most carefree day of the week. The sun seemed brighter, the air warmer, the flowers prettier and the trees taller.

That was in our pre-teen days. Then came high school and Saturday nights took over as our favorite time of the week for obvious reasons.

Now all that is in the past. We wouldn't give you a plug nickel for Saturday now — day or night. Our entire philosophy of Saturdays has been shot to hell since we began picking college football games.

Oh it was fun most of the time last year. It wasn't even too hard to be fairly accurate because, heck, we were a sports writer and we had "inside" scoop on many of the teams across the country.

Then came 1965 and the return to two-planet football. Now the fans are pouring out to see college games more than ever before because you just can't tell who is going to win. It doesn't matter if Possum Creek U. is playing a combined group from Notre Dame, Texas and Nebraska—you just can't say who is going to win with any consistency. At least we can't.

Oh well, go ahead and enjoy your wonderful Saturday game, eat peanuts and act like you know who's going to win.

Us? Well, while you are out soaking up that excitement we will go somewhere alone, chalking up those scores and growing to hate Saturdays more and more.

But the way, we missed 12 of 29 last week with one tie and the overall total now reads 55 correct, 29 wrong, 6 ties for a .655 mark. But we did hit one score squarely on the head last week. We picked 14-7 for the LSU-Florida game.

So, okay, we picked LSU to win. Why do you always have to get technical?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Camilo Pascual will try to make it three in a row for the surging Minnesota Twins, and Claude Osteen will attempt to halt the rout of the Los Angeles Dodgers Saturday as the teams resume World Series play at Dodger Stadium before 55,000 fans.

Jolted by the Twin disaster in Minnesota where both Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale were beaten, the Dodgers hope the return to native soil and their spacious park will help.

Warm sunshine, cutting through the smog and fog, was expected to send the thermometer to the mid-70s by game time, 1 p.m. PDT (3 p.m. EST).

CLAUDE OSTEEEN

ington last winter, never lost to the Twins in his American League days, managing a 5-0 record against them.

In Los Angeles, Osteen is regarded as a tough-luck pitcher because the club seldom scores many runs behind him but he has a 15-15 record. Actually, the club seldom scores many runs behind anybody and have scored only three in the first two Series games.

Pascual, a talented Cuban curveball artist, missed seven weeks late in the season after an operation on his back. He didn't pitch from July 28 to Sept. 6, and finished with a 9-3 record. He is a deliberate workman who will be in sharp contrast with Osteen, a quick pitcher.

With another left-hander working for the Dodgers, Manager Sam Mele of the Twins will leave rookie Joe Nookse in center field and Bob Allison in left. It was Allison's diving catch on Jim Lefebvre in the fifth inning of Thursday's second game that helped save the day for Jim Kaat.

Walter Alston expected to go with the same line-up that played the first two, reversing a couple of positions in the order to compensate for the right-handed Pascual.

"We've been on both ends of this thing," said Alston. "In 1955 we lost the first two to the Yankees and then beat them in seven. In 1956, we beat them the first two and then lost the Series."

When Maury Wills stepped off the plane at the airport Thursday night he told a reporter, "Buzzy Bavasi (Dodger general manager) said we can win four straight and we still can do it."

Only four clubs have bounced back to win a Series after losing the first two. In addition to the 1955 Dodgers and 1956 Yanks, Metropolitan Stadium, the Dodgers dropped from 7½-5 favorites to 1-2 underdogs because they had been beaten in their strength — pitching.

Osteen, a talented left-hander the 1958 Yanks did it against Milwaukee and the 1921 New York Giants against the Yankees in a best-of-nine series.

Mele and the Twins tuned up at Dodger Stadium after the National League champions had worked out on Friday's open date for travel. The baked infield that speeds sharply bouncing grounders and the distant fences gave the Dodgers new hope.

Minnesota hit only one homer in the park in nine regular season games against the California Angels.

The pre-series book seems to have been tossed out the window except for the predictions that the Twins would out-hit the Dodgers. The American Leaguers are doing just that — .288 to .243 — and have eight extra base hits to only one for the Dodgers.

Los Angeles was supposed to have the pitching, but Drysdale didn't last three innings and Koufax went out for a hitter after six. Both Jim Grant in the opener and Jim Kaat in the second game went all the way for the Twins.

They said the Twins were shaky on defense and the Dodgers' slick, but Minnesota has no errors and Los Angeles has logged four. The only stolen base is by Zoilo Versalles — not Wills.

Nine Pro Teams Might Be First

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Nine teams in first place? That improbable situation could prevail after this weekend's action in the National Football League.

Taking the Western Division first — Detroit and Green Bay are on top at 3-0, Baltimore and San Francisco are next at 2-1. The Lions play the Colts at Baltimore Sunday, while the 49ers meet the Packers at Green Bay.

Thus, victories by Baltimore and San Francisco would create a four-way tie at the top. In the even more tightly packed Eastern Division, the Cleveland Browns, Dallas Cowboys, New York Giants and St. Louis Cardinals all are 2-1, the Philadelphia Eagles 1-2.

The schedule has Pittsburgh at Cleveland and the Giants at Minnesota tonight, with the Eagles at Dallas and the Cardinals at Washington on Sunday. Sunday.

Thus, victories by Pittsburgh, Minnesota, Philadelphia and Washington would leave five teams with 2-2 records in the East.

Sunday's other game pairs the Los Angeles Rams against the Bears at Chicago.

In the American Football League, San Diego is at Buffalo and Kansas City at Denver on Sunday. Oakland played at Boston Friday night.

The Browns are solidly favored against winless Pittsburgh but their top quarterback, Frank Ryan, is limping with an injured foot — and they also remember what happened last year in this Saturday night feature. Pittsburgh beat Cleveland then, in one of the season's big upsets.

Saturday night's game at Minnesota pits the surprising Giants against the disappointing Vikings. New York has jelled more quickly than expected behind Earl Morrall, the veteran quarterback acquired shortly before the season started. The Vikings have lost two of three, allowing 101 points.

Green Bay also faces a surprise contender in the 49ers, whose only setback to date was a three-point loss to Baltimore. San Francisco over the powerful Packers would be a real shocker, however.

The Lions put their fearsome defensive forces against Baltimore's prolific attack, sparked by Johnny Unitas' passing. Unitas and Co. are expected to win the day.

St. Louis and allas are favored over the Redskins and Eagles, with both underdogs going with reserve quarterbacks, Dick Shiner will run the Redskins in place of Sonny Jurgensen, who has been ineffective. King Hill is filling in for the injured Nor mSnead for Philadelphia.

The Rams will be shooting for their second victory over Chicago this season, but only the second in the last six years. They won a squeaker against the Bears two weeks ago, 30-28 at Los Angeles.

Ryan Returns To Action For Browns Today

CLEVELAND (AP) — Passer Frank Ryan will be back in action for the Cleveland Browns against the Pittsburgh Steelers at Municipal Stadium tonight.

Ryan was sidelined by a jury last week, but his bruised foot is much better and he has been taking his full turn in practice all week.

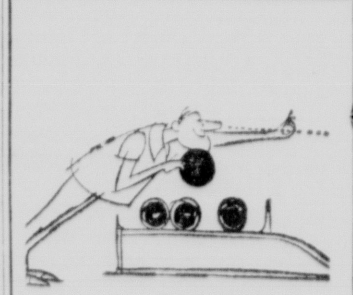

Jim Ninovski handled the quarterbacking chores for the National Football League club against the Philadelphia Eagles, leading the Browns to a 35-17 victory.

Browns halfback Ernie Green will be sidelined tonight because of a hip injury. End Johnny Brewer also is a doubtful starter.

Leroy Kelly is slated to start in place of Green. Ralph Smith may be called on to replace Brewer, whose back began to bother him Thursday.

Georgia and Purdue, a couple of upset artists who have come up in the world, will be targets for gremlins today as the college football season swings through its fourth big weekend. Oklahoma, Michigan and Mississippi, meanwhile, will be among the fallen giants hoping to start comebacks in the unfamiliar role of spoiler.

Georgia, which has stunned both national champion Alabama and Rose Bowl king Michigan en route to the No. 4 spot in The Associated Press ratings, goes after its fourth straight victory against up-and-down Clemson.

Sixth-ranked Purdue, embarrassed once but still unbeaten two weeks after its big upset of Notre Dame, puts a 2-0-1 record on the line against homecoming Iowa.

Oklahoma's once-fearsome Sooners, winless in three 1965 starts, have the day's toughest assignment. They tackle No. 1-ranked Texas in the Southwest rivals' annual showdown at Dallas. Michigan, now 2-1, meets fifth-ranked Michigan State at Ann Arbor while Mississippi, which has dropped two out of three, tests No. 10 Florida, 2-1, at Oxford, Miss.

In other top games, second-ranked Nebraska tries for Victory No. 4 against visiting Wisconsin; third-ranked Arkansas risks its 5-game winning string — longest among major schools — at rugged Baylor and seventh-ranked Notre Dame meets Army at New York in the renewal of their classic rivalry.

Southern California, No. 8, visits Washington and Mississippi State, No. 9, hosts Southern Mississippi. Duke, only unbeaten club in the Atlantic Coast Conference with a 3-0 mark, entertains Pitt in a major intersectional contest and Syracuse is at UCLA in another.

Georgia, only unbeaten, untied club in the powerful Southeastern Conference, figures a two-touchdown choice against Clemson, a 38-6 loser to Georgia Tech last Saturday. The Bulldogs, who knocked off Michigan with three field goals and a late touchdown, may be looking past Clemson to next week's date with Kentucky.

Purdue vaulted into the No. 2 spot in the AP poll on the strength of its 25-21 victory over Notre Dame but dropped back to sixth this week after being tied by an SMU, team that had been swamped by Illinois 42-0 the previous week.

Two sharpshooting quarterbacks — Bob Griese of Purdue and the Hawkeyes' Gary Snook — promise an offensive show in the Big Ten scrap at Iowa City.

The Texas-Oklahoma series has been all Texas in recent years with the Longhorns taking the last seven games. But Oklahoma's defense, headed by linebacker Carl McAdams, may give Texas' vaunted attack a stiff test and Phil Harris, the Longhorns' top back, is a doubtful starter because of a leg injury.

Michigan's chances of derailling Michigan State depend on the Wolverines' ability to penetrate MSU's heavyweight line. Florida expects a rugged battle from homesteading Mississippi, which has lost two straight — to Kentucky and Alabama — for the first time in Coach Johnny Vaught's 18-year tenure. The Gators beat Northwestern and LSU but bowed to Mississippi State.

The Army-Notre Dame spectacle matches rish scoring punch against Cadet defense and also brings together Ara Parseghian and Paul Dietzel, teammates at Miami, Ohio, before launching their coaching careers. Dietzel's Army team blanked Boston College 10-0 last week while the Irish trounced Northwestern 38-7.

Other headlines on today's schedule include Princeton-Cornell, Penn State-Boston College, William & Mary-Navy, Kansas State-Missouri, Illinois-Ohio State, Wyoming-Utah, Oregon-Stanford, North Carolina-North Carolina State and West Virginia-Citadel.

Rathet Picks Pro Football Winners

By TED RATHET

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The World Series seems a strange place to be concentrating on the weekend's pro football games but actually it's no stranger than last week's record.

Hitting a new high of 9-2, the overall record was brought to 21-14-1 for a .667 percentage.

Enough for the gloating. On to the predictions (all games Sunday unless otherwise noted):

Cleveland 35, Pittsburgh 14 (Saturday) — The Steelers porous defense figures to get another going over from Jimmy Brown and Co. Either Frank Ryan or Jim Ninowski should be able to generate enough of a passing attack to make this an easy one for the Browns.

Minnesota 31, New York 24 (Saturday) — The Vikings' defense, which has been weak against passing, will again be probed. But the Vikings should be able to score more points than they will give up.

Baltimore 28, Detroit 17 — The Lions have been one of the surprises of the season but the Colts are tough. It's about time Lenny Moore broke loose for a big day.

Green Bay 21, San Francisco 14 — The 49ers, who proved in a 27-24 loss to Baltimore last week that they are definitely improved, could be meeting the toughest team in the league. The surgery to receiver Max McGee won't hurt the Packers too much.

St. Louis 35, Washington 21 — The Redskins just haven't been able to click yet, and it won't be easy to do it against the Cardinals. St. Louis, after a couple of tough games, might have a tendency to let up, but figure Washington to remain winless at least another week.

Los Angeles 24, Chicago 21 — Bill Munson, Los Angeles' relief pitcher, should give the Rams the edge over a Bear team that has a top rookie in running back Gale Sayers.

Dallas 42, Philadelphia 31 — A free-scoring affair with the Cowboys pulling it out. Despite their loss to St. Louis last week, the Cowboys are a strong and improving club. The Eagles

KICKY KNICKER PAJAMAS, cut for plenty of get-up and go-go before retiring. The long-sleeved midy blouse has white collar and cuffs and a streaming royal blue bow. The knickers are comfortably shirred with elastic just below the knees.

THE FALL PARTY season will light up with this all-girl coordinate in pastel hues. Lace trim accents the festive sweater, long sleeved and pure wool, with a tiny bow nestled at the neck. The romantic slipover is played off against a bias cut A-line skirt, fashioned from a pastel plaid. Diamond-patterned socks go over the knee in matching color.

Insecticides Discussed By Camellia Club

Members of the Northeast Louisiana Camellia Society heard a discussion on the problems and advantages of spraying with various insecticides at the regular meeting Monday night. The meeting was in the Louis Locke Room of the Ouachita Parish Public Library. Plans were also discussed for a proposed trip in the spring, during which the group will visit several outstanding nurseries or gardens, possibly in Jackson, Miss.

Hints From Heloise

Pour Your Bleach Don't Spatter It

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

If you take a hot ice pick and make a hole in the handle of either the half-gallon or the one-gallon size (about one inch from the pouring spout), the bleach will pour out smoothly, and no more spattering.

Teeny Schweirs

Well, I'll be doggoned! This is the discovery of the century. I flitted to the kitchen in jig-time to try this one.

It works. Fantabulously. . . Instead of that ol' bleach going "blub-blub" in spurts, it poured out like the fountain of youth.

Be sure to make the hole on top of the handle about one inch from the neck of the plastic bleach bottle.

And, jolly-ho to Teeny for tipping us off on this one. I am sure it will prevent lots of spatters on good clothes.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

For those who have louvered closet doors (made of slats): Try taping a piece of plastic on the inside.

This keeps the dust from coming through the spaces in the door and onto your clothes. It really helps!

Lynn Nichols, 15

Dear Heloise:

Use the mate of a lost kid glove for making leather buttons — so popular for sports clothes.

Cut leather circles and gather around old plastic buttons, or use metal button frames. Or, you can cut strips of leather to trim pockets, etc.

Designer Sees America First In Stylish Hats

By FLORENCE de SANTIS

Sally Victor, that small differently charming woman whose fans will wear no one else's hats has been second to none in traveling abroad for inspirations. So she believes she has a right this fall to see America first, as President Johnson has been recommending.

Her new collection, purely enchanting, uses eras of American history from Colonial days to this minute for hat ideas. In First come cavalier hats, in leather, with brims sweeping up on one side, madly dashing for suits. Then come Priscilla bonnets. The first one shown is gray, a tradition with each of Sally's collections, demure, around the face, rounding the head and nipping in at the neck.

Bound to be the hit of the collection are her four-cornered hats from George Washington's time, with a back ribbon and wig bow such as was used to tie the men's perukes. This shape appears large and small, in black velvet and cherry velvet. Each variation has a delightful name, such as the Spirit of '76, John Paul Jones or the Minute Man. This last is a small version in white leather bound in beige grosgrain which also makes the ribbon band and bow.

Now comes the Federal period, when women wore caps at all times indoors, and put on bonnets over them. Mrs. Victor does the caps in Indian white lamb, the bonnets in beautifully folded beige velvet with a white leather brim. The West was beginning to be settled, too, by fur trappers who are commemorated in all kinds of furry hoods and helmets.

The nineties are represented by dinner hats of satin, coq feathers, lace and egret plumes. A new idea appears here, an earring hat made of net loops which comes close around the face so that the dangle earrings attached to it seem to be on the ears. Embroidered and brilliantly jeweled caps take their inspiration from the pre-World War I era, while a charming combination of the cap with a back-blown beret comes from a style worn around 1915 by Mary Pickford.

Sally's bow to modern times includes some caps with the cloche look of the Twenties, and a number of her own famous turbans. One of these was the last shown, a cloud of white veiling printed with gold coins, with its own scarf attached to fling over the shoulder.

The point of every Sally Victor collection is enormous wearability coupled with striking ideas. Mrs. Victor always has plenty of hats for every age from frugging teens through mothers — of the bride. There's no mad hat here, just irresistible prettiness.

Dear Abby

Smoking Plus Lying Is Added Fuel To 'Fire'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter, who is in her early teens, then to ignore it, is foolish. But she smokes against our wishes. She never smokes in front of us, but we know she smokes, even though she says she doesn't. How do we treat this situation? Do we make an issue of it and "punish" her in some way? Or do we ignore it, hoping she will realize she is too young for such behavior?

WORRIED MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: For parents to lay down rules, learn they are being violated, and then to ignore it, is foolish. But even more serious than your daughter's smoking is her lying about it. If you let her get away with this, don't expect her to listen to you in other matters of behavior. Restrict her activities, and let her know that she is being punished more for lying than for smoking.

DEAR ABBY: I met Phil six years ago. He was divorced and so was I. I was 47 at the time and had two married children and one still living at home going to high school. First I let Phil eat at my place as he had only a sleeping room and took all his meals in a restaurant. He always brought steaks and good food, which I prepared. Gradually Phil seemed to move into my place, which I was in favor of as I was lonely. Finally he was there so much I told my children that we were married. (They would disown me if they knew the truth.) I grew to love Phil and so did the children. When I bring up marriage, he says if we applied for a marriage license now it would be in all the papers and everyone would know we had never been married. I've been working under his name for four years and I don't suppose it's applying against my social security for it's not my legal name. How can we make it legal without any publicity?

LIVING IN SIN

DEAR LIVING: You're lucky you live in California. Confide this problem to your clergyman. He is authorized to perform a marriage ceremony, file the document in his church records and you will be legally and quietly wed with no publicity whatsoever. Those with this problem in other states should consult a local lawyer or clergyman and inquire about their chances to do the same.

DEAR ABBY: Our church rummage sale is over again for another year, thank heavens. And as usual there have been hurt feelings by the stupidity and thoughtlessness of otherwise kind and gentle ladies. In our church we have some very well-to-do women who buy expensive clothes one year and give them to the rummage sale the next. We also have others, like myself, who are not "poor" but we can't afford to buy such expensive clothing and what we buy we wear for a long time. The problem is women who wouldn't for the world hurt your feelings intentionally, but while sorting and pricing rummage they make remarks like, "Ish . . . I wonder who brought this rag!"

Naturally they are not aware that the person to whom they are making this remark could be the one who brought the article. This happened to me, Abby. I am sure it must have happened to others, so if you'd print this letter it might remind other thoughtless ladies to be more careful of what they say and to whom.

SUEDE FEMININITY

The versatile smooth or suede jacket appears as a Chanel-type cardigan, a shirt, a blazer. It may hang straight, or be belted at the waist. Whatever the style, the jacket teams like a dream with a gal's skirts, shifts and pants.

Come snappy weather, young ladies can snuggle into a coat or jacket with a fluffy shearling lining (wool on leather). Many conveniently zip out when temperatures rise.

Moore Reports On Industrial Trip To West

Louisiana industrial promoters, including Gov. John J. McKeithen, returned Friday night with news that their week-long industry-seeking mission to California was "most successful."

In addition to Gov. McKeithen, those making the trip were James W. Moore, vice chairman of the Louisiana Highway Board; Fred Petty, president of the Tensas Levee Board; John Sherrouse, member of the Louisiana Mineral Board at Monroe; and Smith Walker of Columbia, member of the Louisiana Board of Commerce and Industry.

The five had been in California since Monday seeking possible industry to be brought into Louisiana.

Moore said the team met with numerous industrial prospects and "we were assured by several that they would locate new industries in Louisiana."

Gov. McKeithen held an informal reception for industrial prospects of San Francisco and Los Angeles. Moore said these business leaders were "impressed with the governor's industrial inducement program."

According to Moore, Lockheed Aircraft Corp., of Los Angeles, told McKeithen that their recently announced plant facility at Chennault Air Field at Lake Charles would be expanded into a "very large operation, manufacturing component parts and doing modification work on all aircraft manufactured by Lockheed at the Marietta, Ga., plant. Lockheed officials" said Moore, "publicly expressed their ap-

Driver Of Truck Killed In Area

DELHI (Special) — A 40-year-old Florida truck driver was killed at about 6:15 a.m. Friday on U. S. 80 near Tendam.

A second accident at the scene caused injuries to Mrs. Ruth Taylor of Rt. 2, Delhi.

Ray Edward Creighton of Pensacola lost control of the meat truck he was driving and it swerved off the highway and then crashed into a grove of trees, according to state police.

The collision, which occurred six miles east of Delhi, tied up traffic and workmen had to remove meat products from the truck to be taken to Tallulah for refrigeration.

Kenneth Mack, about 40, who was a passenger in the truck, received multiple injuries and was rushed to Delhi Clinic and later transferred to St. Francis Hospital in Monroe.

State police said Mrs. Taylor precipitation for the governor's evidence of cooperation toward new industry which might come to Louisiana, and said they look forward to having at least 2,000 persons on their payroll in our state."

In San Francisco, earlier in the week McKeithen discussed plans for the expansion of Kaiser Corp., which already has two large aluminum facilities in the state. A possible new manufacturing plant was also mentioned in connection with the Louisiana expansion program.

Moore said McKeithen seemed "gratified of the week spent in California."

Several Prison Sentences Given Of City Court

Judge Hillyer S. Parker Friday, presiding in Fourth District Court, handed out several prison sentences.

Judge Parker also ruled that Clarence E. Lambert Jr. of West Monroe be committed to an institution after he was found mentally incompetent to stand trial for simple burglary.

In an earlier session, Judge Parker ordered a Monroe Negro, Albert Gordon, 900 S. 19th St., to serve one year in the Ouachita Parish jail for public bribery. Gordon had been remanded earlier until a pre-sentence investigation could be made into the incident.

The Negro, originally charged on six counts, had been found guilty in September and remanded to the parish jail.

Also sentenced were: Odella Mae Jenkins, Negro, 33, 2211 DeSiard St., Monroe, three years in Angola on each of six counts of forgery. The terms were to run concurrently.

Charles Van Davis, 418 Benson St., West Monroe, five years suspended and placed on probation for simple burglary.

Jasper Holland, 37, Negro, 903 Adams St., Monroe, 12 years in the state prison at Angola for manslaughter. Originally charged with manslaughter, he was convicted on Sept. 13 for manslaughter in the May 9, 1965 death of Uecle Vonner, also Negro.

John M. Hebert Jr., 323 Elmwood Dr., West Monroe, 18 months in the penitentiary for theft of gasoline, oil and cash, valued at $20.

Soviets Insist Luna Probe Is Successful

MOSCOW (AP) — Tass insisted Friday that Luna 7 carried out most of the preliminaries for a soft landing on the moon before it crashed into the lunar surface.

If the unmanned spaceship had succeeded in a controlled landing, the Soviet Union would have jumped perhaps six months ahead of the United States in the race to be the first to put a man on the moon.

Instead Luna 7 crashed early Friday in the Ocean of Storms area, 3½ days after its launching. It was the third unsuccessful Soviet attempt in six months to make history's first soft landing on the moon.

The braking system apparently did not function properly. This happened before in the Soviet moon program.

While tacitly admitting the failure, the Soviet news agency claimed that Luna 7, a 1½-ton spacecraft carrying photographic equipment, had achieved some positive results.

"Most operations necessary for a soft landing were fulfilled during the approach to the moon," Tass reported. "But some operations were not carried out in accordance with the program and need additional development."

"Considerable practical material for further work was accumulated in the course of the flight."

Tass did not go into details on this or say when the next flight will be attempted. The Soviet Union has been working since Jan. 4, 1959, with its Luna program to put down a spaceship on the moon gently enough to insure human survival.

Like the United States, the Soviet Union hopes to land a man on the moon no later than 1970. The latest result darkened the prospect of achieving this goal.

Official press releases here had shown optimism about Luna 7. The world was told Thursday that it would reach the moon at 1:08 a.m. Moscow time. This happened exactly on schedule but radio signals from the spaceship stopped immediately.

That indicated the landing had been a hard one and delicate instruments were destroyed.

The Jodrell Bank Observatory in England reported that rockets meant to slow down Luna 7 had been fired six minutes before the landing, but had decreased its speed only slightly.

The moon has no atmosphere to make breaking easy, as on earth. The retro-rockets have to check the whole of the speed of the spaceship. Jodrell Bank estimated that in the case of Luna — this effect amounted to only one kilometer a second, causing the crash.

Tass remained silent for 13 hours after the landing, which made it obvious that all had not gone well. Complete successes are described with great fanfare.

Then there was the short announcement admitting that a partial failure had occurred.

Sir Bernard Ovel, director of Jodrell Bank, said he supposed the Soviet Union will try another moon shot, possibly in about a month.

Gulf Research May Open At Baton Rouge

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Gulf South Research Institute probably will operate a facility in the Baton Rouge area despite a decision shutting out the capital city, GSRI Director Bruce Graham said today.

Graham and members of his staff planned to tour the lake-front site chosen by the Louisiana Science Foundation Wednesday to be the institute's permanent home.

The institute board originally had proposed a three-way campus at New Orleans, Baton Rouge and New Iberia for its state-subsidized research operations to promote the state's economy.

But the Foundation, by a 6-5 decision, voted instead to put the institute's main operations here with some research to be done at New Iberia. Baton Rouge lost out entirely.

The foundation's decision followed the recommendation of a panel of experts called in to pick the best location for the institute.

"The majority of the board members and all of the employees would like to have some operation in Baton Rouge and we feel this is possible," Graham told newsmen.

"If the city (Baton Rouge) comes up with something attractive and presents it to our board, it could very well have a favorable reception," Graham added.

Under an act of the legislature, the foundation is putting up the $1.25 million needed to construct the institute's building here.

Graham said the institute looks on the foundation's funds as a loan which must be repaid.

"So whether or not we have an operation in Baton Rouge shouldn't depend too heavily on these loans," he said.

Asked what type of facility he advocates for Baton Rouge, Graham replied:

"Let's just say a very significant portion of the operation. My own feeling is we need some kind of operation in both metropolitan areas...with their very fine universities."

In Hammond, Malcolm Wright III, who headed a group which tried to have the institute located in Hammond, said:

Budget Okayed At Franklin School Meet

WINNSBORO (Special) — The Franklin Parish School Board at its regular meeting Friday approved an estimated budget for the fiscal year 1965-66 of $2,287,463.82.

Receipts for the year were estimated at $2,865,059.95 which will leave an estimated deficit for the year of $224,403.87.

Prior to approving the budget, the board voted to divert one half cent from each 15 cents school lunch to the general fund. This was to help pay for the operation of the cafeteria, Superintendent M. D. Peel said.

In cutting down the estimated budget, the school board voted to delete the money which they had been allotting to the Franklin Parish Health Unit and the Parish Agriculture Extension Service.

In other action, the board approved an agreement with the Tensas Basin Levee Board for 10.9 acres at $475 and 3.5 acres for $125 for the Beaufort River Drainage project. The land is located in Ward Two.

Convicted Killer Of Policemen Sentenced

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ga. (UPI) — Convicted cop-killer Venson Eugene Williams was sentenced to death in the electric chair Friday by Judge Charles C. Pittard whose final words to the defendant were "may God have mercy on your soul."

Williams, who faced the judge on crutches, said not a word and showed no emotion. His wife, sitting about 20 feet away and clad in a black dress, looked straight ahead.

There were no demonstrations in the half-filled courtroom, where a 12-man jury Thursday returned a guilty verdict without a recommendation of mercy, making the death penalty mandatory.

Pittard set Nov. 22 as the execution date but it is not likely that Williams will die then. Defense attorney James Dorsey has said he will file for a new trial within 30 days. This action will stay the death sentence.

It was the first death sentence to be meted out by Pittard, who is serving his first term as a Superior Court judge in Gwinnett County.

Williams was charged in three indictments with murdering three county policemen on April 17, 1964.

The state charged that the officers were slain when they surprised Williams, former Deputy Sheriff Alex Evans, 38, and Wade Levi Truett, 34, with a stolen car on a lonely rural road south of Lawrenceville.

Truett turned state's evidence on a promise of immunity from prosecution and testified he saw Williams fire the fatal pistol shots into the bodies of two of the officers. The victims were Jerry R. Everett, 28; Jessie Gravitt, 52, and Ralph Davis, 49.
